

IT IS YOU

Where is it

that this roads end

What is it

that drags our hearts into silence and carries those hopes which last forever

Is it...

those tears of Joy

Could it be... that touch that changed a life

the water over my skin

fire along your hair

turmoil deep inside

explosions over the starry night a blast of light

splashing my soul along a galaxy made of you

My eyes went blind

in the second you left

there was no prayer

to turn that day around

November taught me

all that's left to know yet... how do you make reason of it how do you drag it into meanings how do you live

when all the walls fall down on you

When is it

the moment we all wait for the breeze of acceptance

the touch of silent lips upon surrender

upon embracing

above our needs

softer than life...

Is it there can it really be...

woven along twists of fate destined and silent

within unconditional forces stranded without respect exploded and sacrificed on our human roads

thrown like a dice

but mysteriously right

It's now and never

It's all along the path

It is me

It is you

It is wind

It is all the beautiful demons

It is sun falling down on oceans

It is when I find

That I'm still alive

And in all these strange ways you're still around...

